COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Hon. Fiona Ma
California State Treasurer

Fiona Ma is California's 34th State Treasurer. She was elected on November 6, 2018 with more votes (7,825,587) than any other candidate for treasurer in the state's history. She is the first woman of color and the first woman Certified Public Accountant (CPA) elected to the position.

Treasurer Ma is the state's primary banker for California, the world's fifth largest economy. Her office processes more than $2 trillion in payments a year, and oversees an investment portfolio of more than $124 billion, about $34.8 billion of which are local government funds. She serves as agent of sale for State bonds, and is trustee on debt of $93 billion.

In 2020, her office refinanced $6.2 billion of debt, creating a savings of $1.8 billion for California taxpayers.

Before being elected Treasurer, she was an elected member of the California Board of Equalization from 2015 until January 2019 and worked to protect the rights of taxpayers while ensuring California collected its fair share of tax revenues.

Treasurer Ma served in the State Assembly from 2006-2012, serving as Speaker pro Tempore from 2010 to 2012. During the budget crisis, she passed legislation to expand access to health care, and to protect education and the environment.

From 2002 to 2006, she served on the San Francisco Board of Supervisors and worked on many issues, including ending human trafficking in massage parlors.

Treasurer Ma became involved in public service in 1994 when she was elected president of the Asian Business Association. From 1989 to 1993 she worked for Ernst & Whinney, before starting her own accounting practice in San Francisco.

Treasurer Ma has been a licensed CPA in California since 1992 and holds a Bachelor's Degree in Accounting from the Rochester Institute of Technology (NY), a Master's Degree in Taxation from Golden Gate University (SF), and an MBA from Pepperdine University.

She is a Member of the Vatican's Council for Inclusive Capitalism, Member of the California Society of Certified Public Accountants, serves on the Board of California Women Lead, is an Honorary Chair and Spokesperson for the San Francisco Hepatitis B Free Campaign, and is a member of the Screen Actors Guild. She is married to Jason Hodge, a full-time firefighter and Oxnard Harbor Commissioner.

GRADUATING STUDENT PROFILES

Ainura Abdullayeva Defining Resilience

Ainura Abdullayeva, an Art major from Kazakhstan, had to return to her home country when COVID-19 hit. Scared and uncertain of the future, she made a vow on the plane ride: No matter what it took, she was not going to lose the home she had made for herself at SMC.

Starting her first semester at SMC in spring 2019 was a dream come true. Ainura knew hard work would allow her to shine academically, but she also wanted to experience the SMC community. She immediately joined the Cheer Club, and in fall 2019, she became a member of the honor society Phi Theta Kappa.

Ainura also wanted to gain American work experience. As an international student who could only work on campus, she took a job at Campus Kitchen, where she loved meeting the students, faculty, and staff who stopped by.

With her “promise made in the sky” front and center, Ainura has carried on — from Kazakhstan — as a full-time student with a 4.0 GPA. She has also been working online to help international students as a Peer Mentor at SMC’s International Education Center (IEC), holding weekly student Zoom meetings, reaching out to prospective students via webinars, conducting virtual campus tours with SMC’s Student Ambassadors, and helping IEC staff guide new students through the enrollment process.

Ainura graduates from SMC with an Associate degree in Art. She plans to work and gain professional experience for a year, then transfer to CSU Long Beach and study Graphic Design.

Ashley Garcia Hands-on with Life and Change

Ashley Garcia came to SMC in fall 2017 with the intention of majoring in Biology. After taking a cultural anthropology class, everything changed. “It encompassed my favorite aspects of biology and history, without all the math,” she said.

As a first-generation college student, Ashley had no one in her family with the experience to help prepare or guide her in her higher education. “I was essentially blind,” she said, “so I heavily relied on the Counseling department.” She involved herself in the Scholars Program, and also joined SMC’s swimming and water polo teams.

“It’s been a chaotic few years,” she said, “especially 2020.” Having dealt with her grandmother’s cancer diagnosis, her father’s uncertain immigration status, and the eventual family-spread COVID-19 diagnosis, “it became overwhelming.”

Despite these obstacles, she continued her studies. “Her determination, focus, and strength are admirable,” said SMC Scholars Program Counselor Denise Martinez. “She is a student that has inspired me.” Ashley credits Counselor Martinez, along with SMC Aquatics Coach Brian Eskridge and the unconditional support of her parents and brother, for helping her keep her life on track.

Ashley graduates from SMC with three degrees: an Associate Degree for Transfer in Anthropology and Associate degrees in General Science and in Liberal Arts – Social and Behavioral Science. She will transfer to CSU Long Beach as an Anthropology major, with plans for an advanced degree in Psychology and a career in Counseling, “where I can, hopefully, help guide others in a similar position, which is all I really want to do.”

GRADUATING STUDENT PROFILES

Anet Kalpakciyan Determined to Succeed

Anet Kalpakciyan, an international student from Istanbul, Turkey, enrolled at SMC in summer 2013. A first-generation college student studying in the United States, she was also undergoing physical changes. In the fall, she enrolled in Media 10, “where she finished her assignments early because she was due to have her baby,” said SMC Journalism and Media Studies instructor Sharyn Obsatz, impressed by Anet’s determination.

Anet had a boy, and she and her husband settled in as parents. Then circumstances changed again, and they returned to Istanbul. “I was very disappointed because I couldn’t finish my studies,” she said.

Anet and her husband and son moved back to the U.S. in 2019. She re-enrolled in SMC in winter 2020, and was attending spring semester classes when the pandemic forced her to pivot to studying online. “It was so challenging studying, as we were at home all the time,” she said. “But I won’t give up, even when things get complicated. My grandfather taught me the importance of education, and with the support of my husband and his family, I want to show my son and others how education and knowledge can make us stronger and more confident. This world needs strong women who will encourage and support others.”

Anet graduates with high honors from SMC with an Associate degree in Early Childhood Education. She is postponing her plans to transfer to a university, but said she is “determined to return to my education, and I’ll definitely go as far as I can go.”

Joshua Lin Stepping Forward in Life

To call Joshua Lin a school dropout would be sugar-coating things. The 36-year-old LA native’s formal education ended when his Taiwanese immigrant parents abruptly pulled him out of 6th grade. His family belonged to a New Age religion whose prophet believed school “brainwashes children away from God.”

Josh’s teen years were divided between intense Bible study and underpaid labor as a bicycle courier for his mother’s employer. What little money he earned, the family confiscated. His only escape came through reading, and the public library became his sanctuary.

At 22, Josh broke with the church and his family, leaving home penniless and uneducated. He found work as a personal trainer and part-time property manager, but secretly dreamed of returning to school.

In 2015, he passed the GED and enrolled at Santa Monica College. Financial setbacks and bouts of depression forced Josh to take detours, but after a bumpy start, he began earning top grades in his courses. He joined the Scholars Program, and found an “auntie” in counselor Audra Wells. “She’s pretty much held my hand through the entire process,” he said.

Josh credits a course in symbolic logic taught by Paul Klumpe as the turning point in his intellectual awakening. “At the tender age of 35, I started formulating my own ideas versus doing what I’m told or going through the motions.”

Josh graduates from SMC with an Associate degree in General Science and a near-perfect 3.95 GPA. Although accepted to Columbia University and UC Berkeley, he has decided to transfer to UCLA, with plans to study law and become a corporate litigator.

GRADUATING STUDENT PROFILES

Karina Quevedo Legacy of Academic Leadership

Karina Quevedo followed a family tradition in coming to Santa Monica College. Her grandfather was a Spanish professor for 39 years at SMC, and her father is in his 20th year in the Math Department. Karina, however, is forging her own path, pursuing a future in scientific research.

She wanted to become a physician, but courses such as Science 10, Principles and Practice of Scientific Research, showed her she could have an even wider impact as a researcher. “Even after you’ve done your own project, the work it leads to keeps going,” she noted. She hopes to see doctors apply her research discoveries to patient care.

Her journey’s next step will be conducting epigenetic research as an intern at the UCLA laboratory of renowned biophysicist Matteo Pellegrini. “It was my top lab pick,” she said.

Karina is as dedicated to others’ academic success as she is to her own. She tutored students at SMC through the Science Research Initiative. She also mentored middle school students through the Emily Shane Foundation and SMC’s Sister to Sister program, a partnership of the Adelante and Black Collegians programs. “I became a tutor,” she said, “to help people with things that I struggled with when I was taking chemistry or biology.”

Karina admits her career could continue her family’s legacy of service at SMC. She appreciates SMC’s “environment of students coming first. Whatever goal we have, the faculty and staff are going to do anything they can to help us reach it.”

Karina graduates with an Associate degree in General Science. She has been accepted at several UC campuses and at CSU East Bay, and is deciding where to transfer.

Emily Zamora Seeing Beyond the Immediate

Becoming an immigration lawyer is what motivated Emily Zamora, born into an immigrant household with relatives who migrated to the United States, to become the first in her family to attend college.

To succeed, she had to overcome obstacles ranging from her parents’ demanding work schedules — which left her caring for her younger brother — to not having a support system of family members who had navigated through higher education and understood how to prepare for the rigors of college classes. Still, she headed to SMC, where she joined the academically challenging Scholars Program.

“A friend, an international student at SMC, told me about the program and said it was research-based,” Emily said. “I was scared about the gap I might be facing on research, but I wanted something to challenge me, build me up, so I was better prepared to do well at a university.”

Emily was among the group who helped launch an SMC chapter of Amnesty International’s Amnesty Human Rights Club, where she holds the officer position of Treasurer.

Currently working at a civil and human rights organization, Emily is responsible for researching social and political issues occurring in South Los Angeles and throughout the Greater Los Angeles Metropolitan Area. She also holds monthly workshops for LAUSD students, helping them learn about issues that affect them and craft public comments to present at LAUSD board meetings to ensure funding and other resources are going to schools with low-income students.

Emily graduates from SMC with two degrees: an Associate Degree for Transfer in Political Science, and an Associate degree in Liberal Arts – Humanities. She will transfer to UCLA as a Political Science major, then continue on to earn a law degree.

PROUD TO BE SMC

MOMENTS OF 2020-2021

- ▶ Santa Monica College celebrated a landmark 30 consecutive years as the leading transfer college to the University of California with 1,197 transfers, and maintained the top spot for African American and Latinx/Chicanx UC transfers. SMC also continued as the #1 transfer college to USC and Loyola Marymount University, plus #1 west of the Mississippi to the Ivy League Columbia University!
- ▶ SMC has distributed nearly $13.24 million from state and federal sources in direct emergency financial grants to help students who were adversely impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic or were training to be essential employees in disciplines like Respiratory Therapy. The distribution is ongoing, while funds last.
- ▶ Since March 2020, SMC's classes and services have been offered almost exclusively online. (Plans are to begin offering a significant number of in-person classes in fall 2021). SMC has continued to offer a robust calendar of online workshops and events, a free Chromebook lending program, a free WiFi zone, and a variety of other student-support resources.
- ▶ SMC's student support activities include a weekly drive-thru food pantry and a free home-delivery meal program, comprehensive mental health support, and partnerships with other agencies to make free COVID-19 vaccines available to the community. Since the start of the pandemic, SMC and the SMC Foundation have distributed more than 50,000 bags of groceries and over 200,000 meals to students facing food insecurity.
- ▶ Working with the City of Santa Monica and other community partners, SMC and the SMC Foundation ensured that food-insecure individuals and families had a festive Thanksgiving meal, with over 200 volunteers distributing meal boxes and fixings at no cost to 1,455 community members and SMC students.
- ▶ SMC joined 1,500 U.S. communities, businesses, and institutions — including 123 colleges and universities — in reaffirming the nation's commitment to the Paris Agreement on climate change. In January 2020, the SMC Board of Trustees also passed a resolution to pursue the 2025 and 2030 climate change and sustainability goals adopted by the California Community Colleges Board of Governors.
- ▶ SMC and the Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce teamed up to launch the Santa Monica NextGen Leadership Mentor Program. The collaboration partners minority students with Chamber members/industry professionals who have experience related to the student's field of study and can identify with the student's cultural background.
- ▶ SMC students and programs continued to rack up accolades in 2020-2021. Here's only a partial list: The Corsair, the student-run media outlet, won top individual and group awards, including Student Photojournalist of the Year from the Press Photographers' Association of Greater Los Angeles, 27 JACC awards, and several national Pinnacle awards; SMC student films The Attempt and Broken Layers were accepted into the American Pavilion at Cannes; The Attempt won Best Student Film at the 2020 Vienna Independent Film Festival; in fall 2020, the SMC Debate Team competed in four online tournaments (12 students competed, and 11 awards were won by seven individual debaters); SMC alum Mickey Meyer was an executive producer on the Oscar-winning short film Two Distant Strangers; and many more!
