Patrisia Diaz Maldonado, Student Speaker

Found in Translation

Almost every day, Patrisia gets a call from someone at SMC asking the same question: Can you translate for us?

“Even people who don’t know me know to call me,” says the 21-year-old Ukrainian native. “All they’ve been told is that there’s a student who speaks Russian and Ukrainian who can help.”

Graduating today with Associate degrees in General Science (Honors) and IGETC, Patrisia has become invaluable to SMC, not just for her fluency in those languages, but also her ability to make new students — many fleeing the war in Ukraine — feel welcome.

“They’re starting from scratch,” Patrisia says. “I understand that because I was like that, too. Only I made the choice to move here. They didn’t.”

Patrisia first left Ukraine in 2019 to study economics at SMC. But following a two-year break during the pandemic, she returned to school with an interest in education. Eventually, she settled on cognitive neuroscience.

When she isn’t in class or serving as an ad hoc translator and one-person welcoming party, Patrisia stays busy. During her time at SMC, she joined the Cheer Team and served with the Inter-Club Council (ICC) — first as a delegate, and then as vice president — all while working full time. “I practically live on campus at this point,” she jokes.

As she prepares to transfer to UC Berkeley this fall, Patrisia hopes to return to Ukraine someday, where she’d like to open a school. And while she’s at it, maybe even improve the entire education system.

Victor Chambers

Getting Involved

In the last three years, Victor helped first-year students adjust to college life, interned at a film festival, and led The Corsair journalism team to victory. No small feat for a full-time student.

But Victor made it happen. Graduating today with an Associate degree in Journalism, the Brazilian native arrived in L.A. 11 years ago in search of better opportunities in art and culture. “It’s the thing that really drives me forward, what I fill my days with,” he explains with a grin.

Victor began classes at SMC in 2021 to pursue a career in media. He joined The Corsair first as a contributor and then, in fall 2023, as editor-in-chief. His work with the team led to 35 prestigious journalism awards. As if he wasn’t busy enough, Victor also interned at New Filmmakers Los Angeles while working as an SMC Peer Navigator and on the newsletter design team at the Adelante Center.

Victor will attend Cal State Northridge, where he plans to major in Journalism and Marketing, with a minor in Entertainment Media Management. Looking back now, he’s amazed by how much he’s done in the past few years. And all because he made the decision to immerse himself in the SMC community.

“Get involved,” he says. “That’s the advice I give to all my mentees. Not only are you going to find your community — you’re also going to find your entire college life, your academic journey, transformed.”

Cebelihle S’Nenhlanhla Hlatshwayo

Making Beautiful Plans

When Lihle discovered she would be the first Black female editor-in-chief of The Corsair, she had her concerns. “I told them that I didn’t feel I was at a place in my life where I could do amazing things for The Corsair,” she admits candidly. “If I’m going to be the first, then I have to be amazing.”

That’s when someone offered her some important advice: Take every opportunity that comes your way and do the best you can. And with that, Lihle stepped up for the job.

It was the latest in a series of decisions that have paid off for a young woman whose name in Zulu means “God’s Beautiful Plan.” Graduating this year with an Associate degree in Journalism, Lihle made the bold choice of leaving her home country of South Africa to pursue her love of journalism in the U.S. To make ends meet, she took on several part-time jobs while attending classes full time.

But Lihle had her heart set. “If I want something bad enough,” she says, “I’m going to try my best to make it happen.”

That resolve extends to Lihle’s passion for quality journalism. As The Corsair’s editor-in-chief, she’s focused on promoting high standards of journalism, especially as the team begins to cover complex issues. Ultimately, Lihle has dreams of launching her own publication back home.

“Any challenge can be faced,” Lihle says. “That doesn’t mean every challenge will be won. But if you’re passionate and determined enough, there’s always a way.”

Andrea Giraldo Morales

When Passion Meets Purpose

Graduating today with an Associate degree in Communication Studies, Andrea will be the first to tell you that she can be very passionate about the things that matter to her.

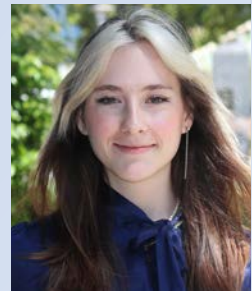

“I think it’s very obvious to everyone who knows me,” she confides. “I’m passionate about art, music, dancing, filmmaking, acting — so many things.”

Central to that passion is a desire to help others. Whether it’s in her home country of Colombia, where she volunteered at book distributions and taught English to children, or here at SMC, where she’s been an active force in the International Students Forum (ISF), Andrea believes in making sure others around her have the opportunities they need to thrive — just like the opportunity she experienced when she discovered the ISF.

“It changed my life completely,” Andrea says of the group. “I met my best friends here. They understood how hard it was to be here, not knowing anything, not having anyone.” Andrea gradually grew more involved, eventually stepping up to become ISF president. Her passion for helping others has since drawn her to the Associated Students (AS) Board of Directors, where she will serve as the Director of Activities.

Although she faced numerous challenges to get here, Andrea says she found the support she needed at Santa Monica College.

“I can do what I set out to do,” she says, “thanks to SMC and everyone who believed in me and supported me.”

GRADUATING STUDENT PROFILES

Joe Caxton Odawa

Closing the Distance

Joe knows something about the distance to a dream and, more importantly, the importance of bridging that distance. In 2020, he left his birth country of Kenya to pursue his goal of studying in the U.S. Soon after arriving in California, he enrolled at Santa Monica College after being told it was the best transfer school. He soon found out it was so much more.

“The community here is so good,” Joe says. “Everyone is very inviting.” He added that some of his best experiences during his time here have been with two groups he joined, MOCAN and Black Collegians. “Sometimes, we do talks. Other times, we have barbecues and anime movie nights or play games — basketball, flag football, you can connect with others as friends, not just classmates.”

Joe graduates today with an Associate degree in Geography, a field that offers plenty of room for exploration. “It’s a branch with many stems,” Joe observes. “It’s a broad field, so I can easily switch from one focus to another if I need to. Urban planning, environmental science, transportation — there are a lot of possibilities.”

As he embarks on the next leg of his higher education journey at Cal State Long Beach, Joe hopes to do much less traveling — at least on a daily basis.

“I hope to experience what it’s like to live on campus every day,” he confesses with a smile. “Staying until it’s late and then taking that short walk to your dorm. I want that college experience.”

Michaela Sheppard Williams

Completing the Picture

When Michaela made the decision to go back to college after a 17-year gap, she was concerned that the college landscape might have changed too much for her.

“I’m older, friend,” she shares with a bright laugh. “And my priorities are different than those my first time around.”

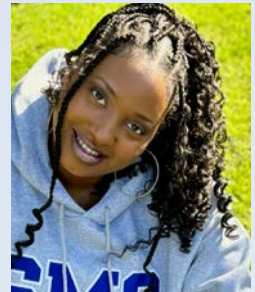

Her concerns today — caring for her family while working full time as a certified nurse assistant — are a far cry from those she had when she first enrolled at SMC in the early 2000s. Back then, she was intent on becoming the first in her family to go to college and earn a degree. But when an undiagnosed learning disorder prevented her from completing graduation requirements, the resulting anxiety, Michaela says, led her to put her plans on hold indefinitely.

But Michaela was determined to complete what she had started. So when she returned to SMC in 2023, she made sure to tell counselors the kind of assistance she needed. Their response, she recalls, was incredible.

“I had a lot of support,” she says, noting how groups like Black Collegians and other SMC resources have been invaluable. “I’m not sure I would have had the same experience at any other school.”

Michaela is graduating today with Associate degrees in Liberal Arts and Film Studies. Her advice to others: Look past any bad beginnings you experience and see things through to the end.

“Don’t let how you started dictate how you finish,” she says. “Even if your progress is slow, keep at it.”

CORSAIR OVERTURE

Santa Monica College is not unusual in playing Elgar's Pomp & Circumstance as the academic procession enters Corsair Field at commencement ceremonies each year. But the College has put its own unique musical stamp on commencement since 2000 by playing a piece composed by SMC Music Professor Dr. David Goodman, now retired.

Dr. Goodman's Corsair Overture was written in 2000 for SMC's 70th anniversary celebration and was premiered at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium by the SMC Symphony and the SMC Concert Chorale, conducted by Dr. James Smith. The text for this piece is an excerpt from Lord Byron's epic poem of the same name. Corsair, which means "pirate" in French, is the mascot of Santa Monica College.

Dr. Goodman taught theory, musicianship, and composition at SMC. He was awarded the first SMC Ilona Katz Chair of Excellence in Music in 2001, and was appointed to his second Chair of Excellence in 2007.

ACADEMIC APPAREL

The traditional attire worn at commencement had its beginnings in the Middle Ages, seemingly at Oxford and Cambridge Universities. In the United States, as a result of its English heritage, caps and gowns have been used since colonial times. In the 1880s, a widespread student movement to dignify the event by wearing caps and gowns reminiscent of the traditions of university life led to the adoption of a uniform code for caps, gowns, and hoods for the various degrees.

The colors of the academic dress have a significance deeply rooted in the tradition of academic life and are specified by a uniform code maintained by the American Council on Education. Doctoral gowns are full, with bell-like sleeves. The front is marked by velvet panels, and the sleeves are marked by three velvet bars. While most gowns are black with black velvet, one variation is to replace black velvet with velvet in the discipline color. A second variation is a colored gown, usually of the university's colors. Master's gowns, also black, are longer than Bachelor's and Associate's gowns.

Caps are black and are usually mortar boards with tassels. Doctors of Philosophy wear gold tassels, usually of metallic thread; other degrees wear black or discipline colors.

All hoods specify the level of degree, the discipline studied, and the awarding institution. First, degree level is signified by the size of the hood, with Bachelor's smallest, Master's larger, and Doctor's quite large and of a different shape. The width of the velvet trim also conveys the degree. Second, the discipline is indicated by the color of the trim edging the hood to form the throat over the gown. Finally, the color of the hood's lining specifies the awarding institution. Discipline colors include white for arts, gold for science, light blue for education, dark blue for philosophy, and so forth.

PROUD TO BE SMC

MOMENTS OF 2023-2024

- ▶ For 33 consecutive years, Santa Monica College ranked No. 1 in transfers to University of California campuses. SMC also maintained the No. 1 spot for African American and Latinx/Chicanx UC transfers, and also continued to lead in transfers to the University of Southern California and Loyola Marymount University; SMC continued to be the top transfer college to Columbia University west of the Mississippi. According to the UC Information Center, SMC sent 1,086 students to UC campuses last year.
- ▶ The Accrediting Commission for Community and Junior Colleges has reaffirmed SMC's accreditation for seven more years. This is the best possible result of an extensive self-evaluation and peer review process required of colleges affiliated with the ACCJC.
- ▶ SMC's Law Pathway Program was honored with the Diversity Champion Award, established in 2016 by the California LAW Pathways Advisory Council to recognize outstanding organizations for their efforts in supporting diversity, equity, and inclusion within the law field. Past awardees include UC Berkeley School of Law, UCLA School of Law, University of Southern California Gould School of Law, Rio Hondo College, and Saddleback College, among others.
- ▶ The first-ever "HBCU Caravan" College Fair at SMC attracted nearly 500 attendees. The fair featured 20 Historically Black Colleges and Universities, a culmination of several public-facing events highlighting pathways for community college students to HBCUs. Twenty HBCUs — including Morehouse College, Grambling State University, Virginia State University, Arkansas Baptist College, and Dillard University — sent representatives.
- ▶ The Rotary Club of Santa Monica raised more than $21,000 for SMC's Guardian Scholars program to help current/former foster youth enrolled at SMC with the cost of textbooks, food, and transportation, and to ease the burden of certain fees.
- ▶ The Golden Globe Foundation awarded the SMC Foundation two grants to support the award-winning SMC film production and journalism programs. The grants will support a named scholarship for SMC journalism students to work/intern on the College's media outlet/newspaper The Corsair, and help fund the film production program's capstone class "Making the Short Film."
- ▶ BroadStage, SMC's nonprofit presenting arts organization, is hosting four-time GRAMMY® Award-winning bassist, recording artist, and composer Stanley Clarke as an artist-in-residence. This multiyear partnership includes performances, curation, and mentorship for Santa Monica College music students, as well as Santa Monica High School jazz students.
- ▶ SMC students continued to bring accolades home! By no means a comprehensive list, here are a few: the College's student-run media outlet The Corsair and its current/former staffers won dozens of national, statewide, and regional awards, including from the Associated Collegiate Press, California College Media Association, the Journalism Association of Community Colleges, and the Press Photographers Association of Greater Los Angeles.
- ▶ SMC Theatre Arts' production of Avenue Q was invited to the Region 8 Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival (KCACTF) festival. Avenue Q is the 11th SMC Theatre Arts production to be invited to this prestigious festival. The show and SMC student actors received several awards, both for the production, as well as individual awards/scholarships.
- ▶ And SMC STEM students continued to be selected for prestigious fellowships such as the Stanford Summer Community College Premedical Program, and the Station1 Frontiers Fellowship, among others.
